Dear Parents & Carers,

Another busy week at Danbury Park, although I don't know a week that isn't!

Class Flamingo shared their learning so far this year with us and their parents, thank you to everyone who joined us. It was a treat to hear children from the class playing the piano as we entered and exited the hall.

Our netball team had a match on Tuesday, well done to all who played with determination and showed great team work. Today, Class E are finding out more on their topic about Vikings at Layer Marney Tower. I look forward to hearing about their day next week. Five teams are also competing in a rugby tournament today in Maldon, I will share how they got on next week.

Have a great weekend,
Sam Jones

Buzz in the City

Farleigh Hospice are hosting a 'Bee Trail' in the Summer across Chelmsford. Many giant bees will be designed by talented artists and installed outside a place of interest to form the 'Buzz in the City' art trail. As a school we have purchased a smaller bee, which will become part of the trail. I look forward to seeing the children's ideas for our 'Danbury Park Bee' please can all designs be returned to school by Tuesday 22nd April.

Mrs Croucher's family would like to me to pass on their thanks for all the kind words and memories shared. They were very touched the school was closed, thank you for your support and understanding with this.

Inter House Hockey Tournament

A reminder for those children taking part in the Inter House Hockey Tournament to make sure they have their PE kit with them on Wednesday.

Thank you.

As a nut free setting, I would like to highlight that some Nivea sun cream may contain 'Prunus Amgdalus Dulis Oil' which is Almond Oil. Please check any sun cream you are applying before your child comes to school does not contain this.
